

On 3 March we celebrate the fourth edition of the Music Freedom Day. The Music Freedom Day has been created by Freemuse, an international organisation which advocates freedom of expression in music.

Every year the celebrations become more and more international, and this year they will take place in Copenhagen, Paris, New York, Cairo, Kabul and The Hague, the city of the International Court of Justice and Civil Rights. One of the projects is the launch of the music record "Listen to the banned".

This year Indeks 73 Initiative has actively joined the Music Freedom Day celebrations aiming to counter censorship in music. On 2 March, the day before the Music Freedom Day, we invite all to the debate on free music and freedom in music. Participants of the debate are musicians, researchers, culture animators and Indeks 73 activists

2 March (Tuesday) 2010 at 6 pm

Cultural centre LWSM "Morena" (an organiser of the Gdańsk edition of the Music Freedom Day)
ul. Nałkowskiej 3, Gdańsk Morena

The debate on free music and freedom in music

Participants:

Jacek Staniszewski, PhD - an artist, graphic designer, lecturer at the Academy of Fine Arts in Gdańsk, member of the music group Biafra, guest musician of the group Ikenga Drummers

Grzegorz Welizarowicz, PhD - a musician (the group MORDY), English philologist, lecturer at the University of Gdańsk, multiculturalism researcher

Agnieszka Kaim - an activist, the Indeks 73 Laboratory coordinator

Lidia Makowska - a co-founder of the Indeks 73 Initiative, expert in cultural issues, activist specialising in social changes (Kultura Miejska Association, the communal website Wrzeszcz.info.pl)

The debate will be accompanied by the concert of Samba Rhythms of Resistance Trójmiasto.

Patronage: Jeden Świat - One World, Indeks 73 Initiative, Music Freedom Day 2010

More information: MUSIC FREEDOM DAY 2010